

Rams Conference Co-Champs

Belle Glade Rams Awarded Trophy For Fifth Straight Year

Rams Score 7 To 6

Against Blue Devils

The Rams fought off a stubborn Pahokee team and came out with a 7 to 6 victory and a share of the conference crown. With this victory the Rams received the Bill Young Memorial Cup and will also receive a trophy as conference co-champs.

The game against Pahokee was hard fought throughout. Both teams should be given a "pat on the back" for playing heads up, "hard nosed" football for the entire 48 minutes of the game. As one observer put it, "neither team should be considered second rate and both teams were well trained and up for the game." It was a clean played ball game. Players and fans alike showed good sportsmanship at the end of the game.

Pahokee scored first in the second quarter primarily with the running of Harold Peacock being aided by halfbacks Harry Cunningham and Kirby Mole. Peacock scored on a two yard plunge and overthrew his receiver Chuck Pell for the extra point when later proved to be the difference in the ball game.

In the fourth quarter the Rams got a drive going that covered 24 yards and a touchdown. It was the running of Bucky Holt, Charles Thompson and John Causey, and a key pass play from Thompson to Tim Hill that made the drive go. Causey drove over from the two yard line for the T. D. and Charles Thompson carried over for the game winning extra point. The statistics were about equal with Belle Glade leading in rushing yardage, 130 to 107 yards and Pahokee in passing, 40 to 20 yards. Of course everyone is aware that Peacock played an outstanding game, but Coach Hayes singled out the play of Hayes-Roy probably turned in the finest defensive game of his career. From his linebacker position he made as many tackles on the opposite side of the line as he did on his own side.

This year's Golden Rams worked hard for the honors they now hold. They began the season with a tie and were led by several teams through the first half of the season. It was not until the seventh ball game that the Rams gained a first place tie with Vero Beach. After this ball game they "dug in" and held the position they now hold. This was a team that never gave up, having been behind in five ball games; they came back strong to win. The game against Pahokee was the 23rd straight game without defeat. Coach Burke feels that the support of the community, fans (especially at away games) student body, the assistance of an outstanding group of coaches have all been keys to the success of our team. Even though 21 boys were lost off this varsity squad there should be a carry over from the past two seasons in support, desire and a winning attitude.

A HAPPY, EXCITED CROWD gathered to witness the presentation of the Bill Young Memorial Trophy to the Belle Glade Rams following the Thanksgiving Eve game. Sam Lovell accepted the award for Belle Glade, being presented by Dr. Dick Lane, Pahokee, Charles Thompson (No. 11 left front) comes in for plenty of cheers and good fellowship for making the extra point that beat the Blue Devils.

Hospital Bids Being Studied For Letting

Herman Close, Chairman of Southeastern Palm Beach County Hospital Board, informs us that several conferences have been had with Connell, Pierce, Garland and Friedman, architects together with the Development Commission, with a view to reducing the final costs of the proposed new hospital within the allowable figure.

"We have made substantial progress to date towards that end," says Mr. Close, "and expect to reach a figure acceptable to the Development Commission and to the Board within the next week or two."

Memorial Service Held by BPOE 1716

BPOE 1716 honored the memory of its departed brothers on Monday night, December 2.

The Annual Memorial Service was opened at 8:30 following a brief business meeting. Special guests of the service were the widows and families of the departed brothers and families of all members of the Lodge and their guests.

Reverend William Boland of the Community Methodist Church gave an inspiring message. The theme of his message was the need of men to be remembered by his friends and associates. Rev. Boland pointed out several ways by which we may make more vivid the memories of those who have left our companionship.

Lieut. Louis Lowery Resigns From City

The City Commission accepted Monday night the resignation of Lieutenant Louis C. Lowery from the police department.

Mr. Lowery's future plans had not been definitely decided at press time.

A "Georgia Boy" by birth, Mr. Lowery has been in the Glades since '37. He has been with the City Police Department for ten years. In recent years he has served with the Detective division and presently is head of that department.

Resignation Of Mgr. Sorum Accepted By City Fathers

City Managers and Second Lieutenants are traditionally "expendable."

City Manager S. J. Sorum of Belle Glade who has held that office for approximately nine months, had his resignation accepted by the City Commission Wednesday, December 4th, effective as of that date.

Mr. Sorum, when asked concerning the resignation said, "I submitted my resignation because I feel that it is for the best interests of the City. I made a part of my resignation the offer of my services to the City, or any employee for assistance on any matter in which I might be of help, until my plans necessitate my moving."

Mayor LeBron Williams' statement is that "Mr. Sorum offered his resignation, and the City Commission accepted it with the commitment that Mr. Sorum be paid three months salary as separation pay."

The resignation was unanimously voted, according to reports. At its special meeting Monday night, the Commission voted unanimously to pay city employees who worked on Monday, November 25th one day's wages. It appears that the Mayor and Commission agreed to the declaration of Day of Mourning from Nov. 25th, coinciding with that of the Governor of the State and the President of the United States with no operation other than that of necessity.

Outside City employees worked that day, it is reported, and it was for this that they were paid the extra day's salaries.

Also, on Monday night, the Commission requested the City Manager to give to them an estimate for the construction of a sidewalk along the paved road way on the south side of the Hillsboro Canal, leading to the walkway to the school.

Tuesday morning city workmen were busy grading the bank on the SOUTH side of the roadway, contrary to previous reported recommendations of the City Manager.

Recently, there was considerable commotion concerning a dumping excavation for the use of pack-houses, in ridding themselves of discarded vegetable matter, as has been the custom heretofore.

A committee composed of three City Commissioners was appointed by the mayor, to attempt to solve this problem to the satisfaction of the pack-houses and the County Health Department.

The problem was resolved the next day at a meeting of the committee and the pack-house operators on the site. The arrangement is apparently acceptable to the Health Department concerning lessening of a fly-breeding ground.

Rumblings have been heard around the city recently; whether these recited events had anything to do with a decision to separate is not confirmed by either the Commission or Mr. Sorum.

According to provisions of the charter, Frank Anderson, City Finance Officer is Assistant City Manager and acts in the absence of a City Manager. No announcement is available from City Fathers as to any change in this normal procedure.

TODAY'S meditation

Read Isaiah 53:1-9; John 12:35-43

Arise, shine for thy light comes, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee. (Isaiah 60:1)

God made man very good and fine in the beginning, but man turned away from Him and became wicked and sinful. Then God promised man a Messiah who would deliver him from his sins and teach him and help him to live in the good way.

The Jews generally thought the Messiah would appear as an earthly king who would conquer other nations that had risen against them.

Therefore, they did not recognize Christ when He came because of their idea as to the kind of Savior He would be. The religious and political leaders rejected Him, and the people cried out, "Let him be crucified." However, some who believed He was the Christ accepted Him in their hearts.

Jesus Christ is, indeed, the Messiah. We need not ask, "Is He the Messiah, or shall we look for another?" We can rejoice, for our light has come, and the glory of the Lord has risen upon us.

PRAYER: Our merciful Father, lead us to the conviction that the Christ whom Thou didst promise and for whom man waited has come. Forgive us for not accepting Him, for we have sinned and need Him to redeem us. We pray in the name of the Light of the world, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The Messiah for whom we wait is already here.

Churches of Christ Scientist

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of this Sunday's Bible Lesson to be read at all Christian Science church services.

God's government of the universe and all mankind will be emphasized in many of the readings, including this Bible verse: "For the kingdom is the Lord's; and he is the governor among the nations" (Psalms 22:28).

A corresponding passage from the Christian Science textbook reads: "When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible" (Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 180).

Textured Fabrics For Your Silhouette

Texture plays a leading role in today's fashions. We see its beauty in classic rib and wavy weaves, in rustic textures with nub and hair effects, in lofty mohairs, in jacquard double-knits, and even in the lights and shadows of silk weaves.

Textures, like colors, can enhance or detract from your appearance. Of course you'll want to wear those that become you — and shun the textures that aren't for you.

Here are some texture tips from Miss Mary Todd, local Home Demonstration Agent. One thing to consider is the relationship of texture to the age of the wearer, she says.

Some textures have a youthful appearance. Mohair, velvet, and tweeds are "youthful" textures. Failles, velvets and double knits, on the other hand, maintain a subdued, dignified air. And still others can be enjoyed by women of all ages.

In the past the "right" texture for the "right" place was of fashion importance. Fine-textured fabrics were considered appropriate for city clothes. Coarse-textured ones were for country and suburban living.

This year's sportive look has brought a merry mix-up of textures. Now anything goes anywhere!

Textured fabrics have a wide appeal, it's true. They also have a widening effect upon your silhouette. So use textures "with discretion" advises the County Home Demonstration agent. Don't let fashion trends weaken your resolve.

Exclude bulky, shiny and stiff textured fabrics from your wardrobe if your figure is on the heavy side or if you are unusually short. Instead, choose all-surface and supple-textured fabrics. These textures will flatter your figure.

Bulky textures add fullness to the figure, so they're the right choice for the very slim woman, or a tall, thin person. If you're one of the slender type, use even fabrics with enough body to stand out from the figure are becoming.

A REMINDER

One of the charms of being young, is the ability to forget. That is, to forget quickly, what might appear to be a hurt, a wrong, a slight, an injury. Then, as we grow older, there is a tendency to brood over hurts, and wrongs, and injuries — real or imaginary — and sometimes we lose that beautiful mental balance, between forgetting and remembering.

There is a place to take all your hurts, your memories, your injuries of spirit; that place is your church. There you will find peace and contentment. Tie a string around your finger, now! Remember church this Sunday!

Here's why you'll tell other people you like it.

Some people think it's a bit frivolous to like a car just because it looks so nice. So what you'll have to do is hone up a little on all the other things that make a Pontiac a Pontiac.

Wide-Track, for instance. Wide-Track is what does away with tilting your way around turns. Pontiac's smoother, quieter ride is another thing you might point out.

Be careful, though. One ride in this car and everybody's going to think you're made of money. You can solve that problem by telling what you paid. Or you might just say, "You'd sure think this car cost a lot, wouldn't you?"

Or you could take everybody's mind off it entirely by giving your Pontiac some throttle. A big 359-cubic-inch Trophy V-8 is standard in each and every Pontiac. And you get to choose from 34 engine/transmission teams. (Happy choosing!)

Now then—on to more of the things that make the '64 Pontiac so thoroughly likeable. Frankly, we couldn't think of anything radical to do with this car. Oh, we made the styling even more stylish, as you can plainly see. We lavished even more care on the interiors. We even improved the light bulbs. But as for more vital things, why change? Improve, refine, sharpen—yes, change—no. And you can tell that to your friends.

Really, though, you can buy a Pontiac solely because you like its looks. We don't think you'll find many people who'll ask you for more practical reasons.

What they'll be asking for is a ride—and the name of the man you bought your '64 Pontiac from.

Fluorescent-orange Not Red Clothing Best for Hunters

An intensive research study has shot holes in the long-time belief that for safety reasons hunters should wear red clothing.

The safest hunters in the woods this weekend, as deer hunting seasons get underway, will wear fluorescent-orange camo and vests, the Florida time reports.

The exhaustive study was conducted by the U. S. Army, utilizing some 1,100 personnel, in cooperation with experts in the fields of color vision, law enforcement, medicine and fish East Coast Optometric Association visible in the half-light of dawn and dusk is one called "blaze orange."

It is disclosed that the color most easily seen by persons with normal or deficient vision, the color least likely to be associated with anything else in the world of nature, the color dawn and dusk is one called "blaze orange."

But why is red not as effective as once believed? FOA points out that 8-9 per cent of all men are handicapped by defective color vision and to those persons — including an estimated one million hunters — "red" is as dark as the fall landscape, and, consequently, will blend with surrounding colors. "Runners-up to blaze orange, in order of effectiveness, were neon red, fire orange and yellow, all fluorescents. Less effective were nonfluorescent bright red and yellow. It was learned that a fluorescent garment is approximately three times as brilliant as a garment of the same color that lacks fluorescent dyes. And it is most effective when sunlight has faded and blue shadows filter into the woodlands, the research proved.

The optometric association said that because good vision is essential not only to hunting safety but also to "bringing home the bacon," hunters should know their vision abilities and limitations before going into the woods. "For safety and results, see and be seen should be the hunter's guide," FOA concluded.

Belle Glade, Vero Beach Tie For Suncoast First Place

Except for two postponed games which will be played this week, the Suncoast Conference's 14th football race is completed with Belle Glade and Vero Beach reigning as co-champions. After battling each other at Vero to a 0-0 standoff in the season opener for each in September, the two champs won nine straight games each to finish in the title tie. Pointwise Vero was superior. The Indians tallied 21 points, only 6 shy of the league record set by Pahokee a decade ago, as compared to Belle Glade's 19, and Vero allowed its opponents only 41 points compared to the Rams' allowance of 46.

It is the third co-championship in the past seven seasons. Belle Glade won the pennant last fall while Vero had won pennants in '51 and '56. Stuart, Pompano, and Fort Pierce tied Belle Glade and Vero Beach for the 1960 crown.

The final tie this time came as both beat arch rivals in Thanksgiving Eve games. Vero overcame a P. Pierce lead to jump 13-0 with Russ Gidlow and Jack Pine both scoring twice. Belle Glade punched over a touchdown with John Causey scoring in the first quarter and quarterback Charles Thompson ran the extra point to whip guest Pahokee 7-0. It was Thompson's first extra point of the fall as he totaled 49 points for third highest scorer in the league pending this week's close out action.

In the final pair of contests, Seacrest was scheduled at Forest Hill Monday night, and on Friday Stuart will visit Lake Worth.

Three other games originally planned as season finishers last week saw Riviera drop Stuart 33-20 in the highest scoring game of the autumn, Palm Beach overcome Forest Hill 27-0.

Harold Peacock scored Pahokee's points last week to boost his season total to 76, tops in the conference. Gidlow's efforts at P. Pierce boosted him into the runner-up spot with 55 pts., followed by Thompson's 49 and Bill Whitman of Riviera Beach with 48 as the latter scored three times on passes at Stuart.

Besides barely missing the season total points record, Vero also barely missed the most extra points by a team mark of 21. The Indians totaled 19 and missed two at Ft. Pierce which would have equaled the record set by Pompano in 1958. Dan Brooks booted 17 Vero conversions, three shy of the league mark set by Lake Worth's Fred Mayer last year.

New Nursing Home Opens In Boynton

Scheduled for opening in late January will be the first nursing-home convalescent home completely designed and built to serve that purpose in Palm Beach County. The new nursing home, Boulevard Manor, in Boynton Beach, directly opposite the noted Bethesda Memorial Hospital, will be a 100-bed facility totally fire-proof, each with its own bathroom.

The three owners, Frank Larkin, Frank Musto, Paul Harrington, long-time citizens of Boynton Beach, who lived originally in Eastern, U. S. have named Paul Halenda, a foremost hospital administrator to actively direct the home.

Boulevard Manor will meet the problem which has long plagued many persons who, in seeking nursing, convalescent home care, for loved ones, found inadequate or sub-standard facilities available.

No Two Ways About It

From Beta Club Journal "Who cares?" "Why not?" "Just this once." "No one will ever know." "No one's looking."

Jack had had every intention of studying. He had laid out his books and notes, made himself comfortable, and even turned off the radio. The call to the telephone disturbed his thought and on the way down the hall he was a little put out at the time he was losing. But the gay, insistent voice he heard soon took over his mind and he heard himself saying, "I'll be ready when you get here." In a few minutes Jack was dressed and waiting at the door for the headlights to show around the corner.

Just before eleven, Jack awoke found himself at his desk. Now the studying became a desperate search for a method to beat the test the following day. After all, he had himself kept his grades up all year and he couldn't afford to take a low grade this time.

Jack knew the test. He had maintained his honor, as far as his grades were concerned. No one knew. No teacher or student would suspect him. Jack was a fine, upstanding school citizen. Everyone could depend upon him to do right. After all, hadn't he been one of the students in the forefront of the Student Council campaign on cheating? Wasn't he from a good family? And was anyone more active in his church? Yes, Jack's morals were above reproach; he demanded the best from himself and was an inspiration to others.

But he knew. And he would time—and it wouldn't be the time—and it wouldn't be the last. Not just about cheating either, he had slipped in other ways occasionally also. He hated himself for it, but "it just couldn't be helped"; rather, he couldn't seem to help himself.

Man has always had difficulty in adjusting his deeds to fit the moral code. Sometimes the adjustment is made simply by ignoring, temporarily, as Jack did, what one knows to be right. The ends seem to justify the means. But how can this be? Is not a morally superior society one of man's chief goals? Can the continual suspension of the rules at the whim of any individual produce men with a deep regard for law and for the rights of others? No. If I do it, I suspect that you do it also; and you suspect me if you do it.

Man must adjust his deeds to fit the moral code, not vice versa. There are no two ways about this question. It is an either-or proposition: either we will have people striving for good and bending every effort to that end and taking the consequences when they fail or we will have people for whom law and rights are good only when it is felt they will produce the desired results.

In your school you are living in a replica of the community in which you will one day live. Your fellow students are working, playing and thinking just about as they will in the future when the world will be yours to have and to mold. Now is the time for you to influence them for the side of law-and-order, the respect of others, the goal of good instead of evil. Do not allow yourself to slip and do not allow yourself to cause others to slip. Your future depends upon it. Your life may depend upon it.

The Majestic Palm Trees Of Florida

By Ron Halbrook

Notice that row of palm trees near the highway. It looks like a row of soldiers standing at attention while being reviewed. The tall trunks seem to stand fearless against the weepens of nature. They look like gigantic rockets standing erect at zero-minus-three seconds. Where the tall, grey trunks seem to end, growths holding a million small seeds hang down seemingly unsupported. These collars look like closely-bunched blobs of seaweed of the husky growth of hair that encircles a lion's neck. Extending from the seed growths to the fronds which each tree has a beautiful green trunk-extension slightly smaller than the main grey trunk. The fronds which each tree wave back and forth in the breeze like the arms of a thousand young sailors putting out to sea. Of course, during the many storms which frequent this area, their tempo is slightly different. The unrelenting storm winds whip them as if they were flags starting the Indianapolis 500.

December Twilight

Delicate loveliness is a December twilight. Rosey-orange sunlight suffuses the earth in a soft, hazy glow like the blush of a shy, teenage girl. The yellow, orange, pink and purple haze over the cumulus clouds make them look like multicolored cotton candy. Where the sun has been, now there is only a platinum glare like the reflections of morning sunlight on a lake. Looking like gaunt men, the black pines are silhouetted against the horizon. A lone star peeps from the darkening face of the encroaching night as it steals across the sky like a villain. Submissively, the familiar fades into the feared; all becomes a wilderness.

—Sharon Motes

Cheerleaders—'64

Many students wonder what goes into being a cheerleader. To have a successful squad, the girls have to practice every afternoon after school and this consists of going over cheers, doing exercises, and punning stunts for coming pep assemblies.

A cheerleader must maintain a "C" average or better in academic subjects. If this is not done there is the penalty of not being able to cheer for a given time.

Sherry Knight, the captain of the cheerleaders, has done a fine job during football season and the student body is looking toward her for some good leadership during basketball.

Others on the squad include: Dee Dee Mikovsky, Vencie Rogers, Lynda Long, Janet Crichfield, and the only senior member, Cecelia Mathis.

These girls have really done an excellent job so far this year and they deserve much credit. So during basketball lets all go out and help support our team through our cheerleaders.

CHEMISTRY

By Professor Harold W. Barrett
Director of the Millar Wilson
Research Laboratory
Jacksonville University
EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of special articles on college majors being distributed to high school newspapers by Jacksonville University, Jacksonville, Fla.

In terms of economic value, prestige, and intellectual interest, a career in chemistry has an obvious attraction for any young person. In terms of sheer quantity—the number of persons involved, the variety of functions and products, applications in other fields, the wealth produced, the breadth and scope of the discipline—chemistry is unique.

The scope, in part, is mediated by its division into several major fields: inorganic, organic, analytical, physical and biological chemistry. Each major field is again subdivided into a number of more limited areas, each of which, again, is comprised of literally hundreds of specialties. Hence, whatever one's personal scientific tastes may be, they can be accommodated in some area of chemistry.

Chemistry Required

Since every manufactured article requires the application of chemical skills and knowledge at some point in its development, to maintain even a semblance of modern civilization would quickly become impossible without a constant supply of chemists and chemical knowledge at all levels, from our various colleges, universities and institutes.

For a young person with a developing interest in this fascinating work, a normal question is, "How does one become a chemist?" As with any other science, he does so by virtue of possessing an active mind with a large bump of curiosity. If he has a serious interest in this direction, it is essential to begin during the high school years. This means better than average grades in English, science, and mathematics. If a foreign language is available, take it. The advanced scientists read at least three languages well and can communicate in any of them.

Take The Best

There is only one acceptable rule for the budding scientist in choosing a high school or college education: take all you can handle and the best you can get. In college, chemistry is not for the smart guy cleverly picking out soft courses for an easy degree.

Then, is chemistry difficult? Part of the difficulty is in the question itself. At certain levels, aside from some manual skills, chemistry is about as difficult as the average crossword puzzle. At others, it is as difficult as an elementary or an advanced game or problem in chess. The major difference is that one normally thinks of games in terms of whether they're fun, or are interesting. The same is true of the game called chemistry once one learns the rules and acquires some skill. In short, after one develops sufficient interest in any game, the degree of difficulty becomes, a side issue — at least within the limits of ambition and ability.

Rams Great

The Belle Glade Golden Rams topped the Pahokee Blue Devils by a score of 7-6 Wednesday, Nov. 27, 1963.

Pahokee scored in the second quarter making the score 6-0 at the half.

In the second half, Belle Glade's John Causey crashed through, tying the score, and even Charlie Thompson went over for the extra point.

Belle Glade was awarded the Bill Young Memorial Trophy for the fifth straight year. This trophy is awarded to the winner of the two teams each year, with the purpose of developing good relations and sportsmanship between them.

Walking By Moonlight

By Victor Venos

Walking by moonlight is one of the oldest forms of sport. The rules of the game can be made as one goes along. I, personally, find the game bit dangerous and approach only with great caution.

I shall point out, for example, that if one gets so engrossed in the charms of his companion, he fails to notice where he is going; certain obstacles such as snakes, holes, ditches, or other miscellaneous fates may befall him. He is also susceptible to the alluring charms of the fair maiden in his company and this, as in many cases, can prove fatal.

Falling into the golden web radiated by the lovely creature at one's side, I have found fatal only in a liberal sense of the word. In actuality, this is a most enjoyable process and recalls its secondary effects only after the victim has been quite generally prepared.

The secondary effects may come in the form of colds, sprained ankles, especially in rocky areas; the sore throat which seems to have been going around school recently; or the loss of one's class ring, in the case of a permanently moon-struck girl.

My opinion, therefore, in this matter of participation in this sport is that an individual stands a better chance of survival if he goes alone.

Half Million Pieces
Christmas Fla. Mail
Expected This Year

Christmas, Fla., post marks will be popular again this year as many Floridians use them on their seasons greeting cards, according to Great Orlando Chamber of Commerce manager, H. Stuart Johnston.

The Orlando C of C serves as a nation-wide collection point for people who want the Christmas post mark on their cards. Many Orlando business firms and many chambers of commerce in the state act as collection points to forward cards to the Orlando Chamber.

A special Christmas cachet reading "Glory To God In The Highest" is stamped on each card before the Orlando C of C transports it to Christmas for mailing.

The post office at nearby Christmas, Fla., handled about 350,000 Christmas cards last year and postmistress, Mrs. Juanita Tucker, anticipates an increase this holiday season.

This architect's perspective of the finished home of Glades Mercantile Co. on South Lake Avenue in Pahokee is nearing completion. The building 100x120 is replacing the old home of this organization which was burned and is of concrete block with reinforced concrete superstructure. The Aldermans have been in the furniture business in the Glades for some 27 years, and some five years ago opened a second store in Belle Glade. The Belle Glade store has recently tripled its floor space by the acquisition of the store room at the SW corner of Avenue A and Third Street. The second floor of the entire building is being used presently as a warehouse. Plans are to remodel as a show room.
